

Things to Remember After Your Property Is Affected by Disaster.

If you require assistance from emergency and/or medical services, dial 9-1-1. Take the necessary measures to take care of your properties occupants. Decide whether or not your property is safe enough for occupation (short- or long-term).

If your properties electrical wiring might have been damaged, do not use appliances or electronics. If you have lost power, remove food items from your refrigerator and dispose of them. Collect valuable items such as family heirlooms, art, and important documents and relocate them from the property to a secure and dry location.

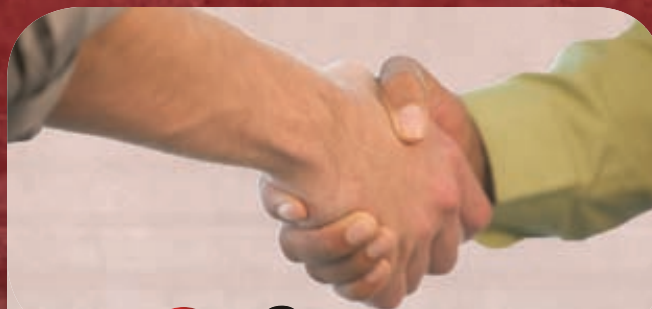

For Water, Wind, & Storm Damage

For your own safety, do not remove large limbs or trees that might have fallen on your structure. Secure Restoration Systems has trained experts who can remove the debris safely from your property without causing more damage. Attempt to remove excess water by using mops and absorbent materials such as heavy-duty sponges of chamois.

For Fire & Smoke Damage

If it possible, try to limit the amount of traffic inside the fire/smoke damaged areas. Excessive movement can stir up soot and also leaving trackings on flooring. If fire hoses were used to extinguish your fire, do your best to clean up excess water by using mops and absorbent materials such as heavy-duty sponges of chamois.
